Medha Jananam

Lectures and workshops based on 5000+ year old Dharmic Thought coupled with advances in various disciplines of human thought in modern times.

for personal, professional and spiritual growth and for organizational and social transformation.

Medha Jananam Lectures and Workshops
June 30 – July 16, 2011
Hyderabad.

Objectives	To design, deliver and distribute lectures and workshops based on the unifying, integrating, comprehensive, open and deep concepts of Dharmic Thought, combined with advances in various disciplines of human thought in modern times, to: • Significantly boost the personal, professional and spiritual growth of every one regardless of education, experience, economic background, social status, caste, gender, race and nationality. • Provide insights for social and organizational transformation, to reduce inefficiencies, friction and corruption in the world. • Make good people strong and strong people good, so that they can influence and build a better society for everybody. See www.medhajananam.org for details of Dharmic Thought and Medha Jananam.

Schedule (Tentative)

June 30, Thursday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free.	Lecture L101. The opposite of Zero (Based on the concepts of: Aum, Brahman, Tat.)	The opposite of zero is infinity, in mathematics. But it can get more interesting. If Zero means, zero emotions, the opposite is 'all' emotions. If Zero means no time, the opposite is 'all' time. If Zero means no space, the opposite is 'all' space. If Zero means no religions, the opposite is 'all' religions. If we consider the opposite of zero in this sense, what would it be? Since Zero means many, the opposite of it has to be 'everything'. What if we consider everything put together as a single unit? Dharmic Thought called it 'Tat' and started a whole new approach in understanding the 'everything', top-down and inside-out. Understanding this approach and the ensuing conclusions/assertions is fascinating to begin with and transformative to end with.

July 1, Friday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free	Lecture L102. Mirror image of the Universe (Based on the concepts of: 'Rasovai Brahma', Gnyanam, Gnyeyam, Gnaata.)	Both the Universe and the Individual are infinite. The depths in the individual mirrors the vastness of the universe. That is why it is not possible to understand one without the other. Those who deny the universe and try to understand or deny the individual and try to understand the universe, find it difficult. Dharmic Thought considered both in the context of the other and thus throws a unique light on this relationship. This relationship is not only the basis for our existence, but also for its meaning. Understanding this intricate relationship is the key to assess our potential, understand the meaning of our life and find happiness and satisfaction in what we do.
July 2-3, Sat-Sun 9:30am to 5:30pm Venue: IIIT Fee: TBD	Workshop W101: Colorful Humanity Workshop (Based on the concepts of: Chaturvarna and Three Runams.)	5000+ years ago, Sages of India had discovered something extra-ordinary; that there are only four energies behind what seems to be limitless diversity of humanity. They called the four energies as 'chaturvarna' or four colors. Medha Jananam re-discovered the immense depth and wide applicability of this concept, in every area of life. In this workshop the participants will learn about the four energies, identify the energy dominant in them and the people in their life. Concepts from this workshop can be applied in every aspect of life, such as raising children, mending relationships, creating successful, effective teams, departments and organizations. It helps the participants understand the short comings of the current education system and corporations and how to transform them.
July 6, Wednesday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free	Lecture L103. Four activities for balanced life (Based on the concepts of: 'Purushardhas'.)	Every activity that we do in life falls into one of the four categories. However, without our knowing we glorify one or two types of activities and pursue only them. Sometimes, life puts us in a corner and forces us to do only one or two of them. If that happens, we lose balance, inside out. A sort of whining starts deep inside us, which is not detectible. This is the dissatisfaction and uneasiness we feel even in the midst of 'successful' and 'smooth' life. Understand the four types of activities and how to balance them for a stable and steady life of success and happiness.

July 7, Thursday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free	Lecture L104. Freedom, Cleanliness, Privacy, Justice and God (Based on the concepts of: 'Multiple paths, Ishta Devata, Kula Devata, Grama Devata .)	What do Freedom, Cleanliness, Privacy, Justice and God have in common? Probably, not much, except, the way we develop notions around them. We have an intuitive notion, an intellectual notion and an inherited notion about each one of them. Understanding how these three develop and how they influence each other is the key to reduce frustration and find order in the chaos around us.
July 8, 9, 10 Fri, Sat, Sun 9:30am to 5:30pm Venue: IIIT Fee: TBD	Workshop W102 & W103: Physical, Intellectual Emotional and Spiritual Connection (Based on the concepts of: Prakriti/Purusha, Aum/Brahman, Viswa Roopam, Vibhuti.)	We are not made in one day. The carbon atoms, the oxygen atoms and the hydrogen atoms have always been there. There is a huge amount of sheer magic that happened, before we became what we are. But we know one thing, that there is a deep world inside of us and there is a vast world outside of us and life is a matter of connecting both and enjoying them well. In this workshop, we delve deep into the layers inside of us and the world outside of us and understand how we connect them physically, intellectually and emotionally. Once we get a handle on that, the doors for joy and effectiveness open up. We will radiate our thought and energies in full around us. It makes us happy, fulfilled and meaningful. On the way, in this workshop, we get deep insights into how the society and people function and how they interact with each other. This knowledge helps everyone interested in transforming not only themselves, but also the society.
July 12, Tuesday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free.	Lecture L101. The opposite of Zero (Based on the concepts of: Aum, Brahman, Tat.)	The opposite of zero is infinity, in mathematics. But it can get more interesting. If Zero means, zero emotions, the opposite is 'all' emotions. If Zero means no time, the opposite is 'all' time. If Zero means no space, the opposite is 'all' space. If Zero means no religions, the opposite is 'all' religions. If we consider the opposite of zero in this sense, what would it be? Since Zero means many, the opposite of it has to be 'everything'. What if we consider everything put together as a single unit? Dharmic Thought called it 'Tat' and started a whole new approach in understanding the 'everything', top-down and inside-out. Understanding this approach and the ensuing conclusions/assertions is fascinating to begin with and transformative to end with.

July 13, Wednesday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free	Lecture L103. Four activities for balanced life (Based on the concepts of: 'Purushardhas'.)	Every activity that we do in life falls into one of the four categories. However, without our knowing we glorify one or two types of activities and pursue only them. Sometimes, life puts us in a corner and forces us to do only one or two of them. If that happens, we lose balance, inside out. A sort of whining starts deep inside us, which is not detectible. This is the dissatisfaction and uneasiness we feel even in the midst of 'successful' and 'smooth' life. Understand the four types of activities and how to balance them for a stable and steady life of success and happiness.
July 14, Thursday 2:00pm to 4:0pm Venue: IIIT Fee: Free	Lecture L105 Science, Myths and Rituals (Based on the concepts of: 'Darsanas', 'Sastras' and 'Puranas'.)	If what we know is represented by a circle, its periphery represents what we don't know. The bigger the cycle gets, the bigger the periphery. In other words, the more we know, the more there will be to know. In the limited time that we live here, can we know all that is there? Perhaps not. But, we can 'connect' with the unknown. Both Science as well as Myths and Rituals fill the gap between the known and unknown. Learn how they have been influencing the humanity from time immemorial. Learn the vital role they play in our lives and learn how they benefit you.